

Demonstrators at Chevron Plant

Two oil-stained, dead grebes were tied to the front doors of the Chevron Research Corporation in Richmond yesterday afternoon by demonstrators who conducted a peaceful protest against Standard Oil.

The group, of about 500, strewn flowers on the lawn in front of the lab, a Standard Oil subsidiary located outside the wire fence of the parent organization.